Natural wool carpeting is the first choice for consumers that are looking for a more natural, chemical-free lifestyle. This type of wool is luxurious and modern at the same time.

Carpets with a higher pile are softer, giving them a gorgeously luxuriant appearance. Our ‘Mars’ carpets are therefore most suitable for creating a comfortable and warm atmosphere.

Wool grows in a thick coat on a sheep. It is natural, sustainable and biodegradable. Wool is a renewable fiber, meaning that it is able to regrow and replace itself. In contrast, synthetic fibers such as polyester and nylon are made using industrial processing of oil, which is a non-renewable fossil resource.

Wool fiber has a naturally protective surface structure of tiny overlapping scales. These scales make it difficult for moisture and dirt to get in. When you spill liquid on wool, it sits on top of the fibers for a while, giving you ample time to clean it away. The scales also disperse light, masking any soiling that does occur.
